

National Pollution Control Day

December 2, 2019

NSS Unit of the College has celebrated the National Pollution Control Day on December 2, 2019. Prof. Joginder Singh, Program Officer, NSS has delivered a short lecture on the degradation of environment and the need to control it. Dr. Bhupinder Kaur, Head, Deptt. of Physics has delivered an expert lecture on the types of pollution, ill-effects of pollution on human life as well as other species living on Earth. She has explained how the volunteers can contribute in pollution control by little steps at local level. The lecture was very informative, interesting and sensitizing for the volunteers. Use of audio-visual techniques has made the lecture more effective. About 100 Volunteers have participated in the event. The volunteers have promised to adopt the eco friendly habits in their daily life so that the ever growing problem of environmental degradation can be controlled.
